➤ Board members asked how long TCI has been around and if there are any controversial issues. Ms. Tavalazzi shared the company has been around for 30-plus years and the Fair Act requires materials to be reflective of the diversity of the community and does not teach about any particular lifestyle.

➤ Board members asked about accommodations for parents on supplemental materials, potential changes to TCI materials once adopted, and what other districts are using the materials. Ms. Tavalazzi shared that TCI materials are state-approved and are not expected to change after adoption. Teachers have the option to use supplemental materials as long as they follow board policy. There are 43 districts that have adopted these materials and the cost for the programs was similar.

President Karsch opened the Public Hearing regarding the adoption of the Teachers' Curriculum Institute (TCI) Social Studies Alive! textbooks for Grades K-5. No comments offered. After hearing no comments, President Karsch closed the public hearing.
